Vicky From Peru Visiting Orinda

Petite, dark-haired Vicki is the guest of Debbie Dunning, a senior here When asked how she liked Mira When asked how she liked Miramonte and the American way of life, she said that she found the people at Miramonte to be very friendly and the family life to be tun too, but a little different. When asked what she did after school she replied, "I help my mother and father in the kitchen and then I play my guitar." The big meal of the day for Vicki at home is lunch, and she finds it hard to adjust to our meal times. She assures us, though, that she is very impressed with Orinda and its beauty, and enjoys the character of the people even though she finds them different.

Early Dismissal Suggested As Reward For Student Help In Keeping Campus Clean

The long and rigorous school week taxes both the physical and mental capacities of the students at MHS. Early dismissal would surely ease the burden of studies for poor, overworked students.

Early dismissal cannot be granted simply because the students desire it, but there are ways that the students could earn the privilege. At two other schools in our district, Las Lomas and Del Valle, students are allowed to leave school grounds early every

It is human nature in many people not to want to make the effort to clean up their mess. Once an early dismissal is obtained, the students will see how little effort it takes to walk to the garbage can put the litter in there, instead of dropping it on the ground.

The clean campius plan would only be a beginning. Other dismissals could be granted if the students behaved properly. Many times in the past, early dismissals before holidays have been projected but rarely have the projections been carried out. We believe that a few early dismissals would raise morale and school spirit. The lessening of the thirty-five hour school week would give the students more energy to support school activities.

One of the first clubs to launch into action was the rifle club. Council Corner Student Body President Speaks On Unity;

By Dirk Vandersloot

The first few weeks of school are always pretty exciting if not hectic, because there's an awful lot to be done and a lot to look forward to. So far this year Freshforward to. So far this year Freshman Day went over well, the Welcome Dance was a huge success, and student body cards are selling at an exceptional clip.

Our present goal is to make a record sale of booster cards. I urge all of you to try to persuade your parents to purchase these cards for $5 which allows them free admittance at all our home athletic events. The booster cards constitute an important part of our student body income, and with the added attraction of our football lights, we should make more money than ever before. You can get your booster cards either from your class representative or your parents can buy them at Ogden's or Sports Unlimited.

As for the future, our first representative council meeting on Sept. 30 started well. Some of the first items of business were concerned with the election of representatives every semester, night assemblies, a school variety show. and the improvement of the back road. Outside of student government, a number of events are coming up. Among them are the football games, the football festival (Oct. 22 against Del Valle),

I hope your enthusiasm will continue throughout the year, and if it does, we might be able to make this the most successful year in Miramonte's history. Remember that school wide unity is the key, and if we all work towards this we will have accomplished a great deal towards the continuing improvement of our school.

Student Body President Dirk Vandersloot confers with Principal James Lewis about his plans for Miramonte this year.

"It's a real challenge, but I en joy it," said our president Dirk Vandersloot concerning his office. Dirk has spent much of his sum Dirk has spent much of his summer thinking and making plans for this year. He has been busy talking to Mr. Robert Callandean of boys; Mr. Robert Campbell, executive council advisor; and Mr. James Lewis, the school principal.

Dirk has a number of ideas, many of them directly concerned with boosting school spirit. In order to achieve this goal a suggestion has already been taken before student council to have night rallies for football.

"Spirit is good now," says Dirk. "The Welcome Dance was a big success, and student body cards are selling well.

There are many other being tossed about, including pav-ing the dirt road behind the footing the dirt road behind the foot-ball field, and ventilating the boys' locker room. These things need money, however, and this year a limited treasury is our biggest stopping block. In order to raise money there is a possibility of having night assemblies or perhaps a faculty show. Work weekends are also feasible.

After Dirk finishes his term After Dirk finishes his term as our student body president he plans to attend Stanford. He is also applying to Harvard and the University of California. He plans to be a doctor.

Jon found Finland especially interesting politically because it is a Socialistic state and has only one economic class.

Jon feels that to be accepted an exchange student for A.F.S., "a person has to be able to adapt to a foreign culture and customs."

by Bob Bardell

In the inaugaral game under Miramonte's new football lights, the Matadors were defeated by Pleasant Hill's Rams by a score of Pleasant Hill's Rams by a score of 6-0. The contest was highlighted by great defensive plays on both sides. The Rams were able to ca-pitalize on the only major break of the game for them, a bad snap from center on a punt, and score their touchdown.

The outstanding player by far for Pleasant Hill was halfback for Pleasant Hill was halfback Larry Jones whose outstanding runs not only electrified the crowd but inspired the Ram of-fense. Outstanding players in Mir-amonte's losing cause were Jan Bottjer, Marshall Snover, and Paul Yriberri. Bottjer's fine de-ception of the player hort Miramonte in fensive plays kept Miramonte in contention while Snover's and Yriberri's running and pass-catch Yribern's running and pass-catch-ing revealed the potency of the Matador's offense. The first quar-ter was strictly a defensive battle and it ended in a scoreless tie. Miramonte punted on the first

The Rams immediately began to pick the Matador defensive secondary apart by hitting on four passes in a row, but the Matador defense once again rose to the occasion and Pleasant Hill was forced to punt. A fine punt return by Marshall Snover gave the Matadors the ball in good field potisition. Even the alternation of quarterbacks Shetterly and Baker did not give the Matadors any incentive

DEFENSIVE BATTLE

The Matadors received the ball first in the scond half, and aided by great runs by Snover and Yriberri, Miramonte began to grind out yardage on the ground; but, as usual, the drive stalled and the Matadors' were forced to punt. THE RETURN OF THE WEINER WHISTLE: NEW RULING FOR F.A.L. SPORTSMANSHIP

by Tim Howe

Last year, when evil looking students in our cheering section clutched the forbidden air horns to their sides and hid paper bags to their sides and flut paper begs full of newspaper fragments in their huge coats, Miramonte's cheering section was in doubt about something called the F.A.L. Sportsmanship Rating, which made it highly unpopular to bring these horns and other home made noisemakers to football games. But now thanks to a booklet en-titled, "The F.A.L. Sportsmanship Rating Form" we are no longer ignorant of these restrictions.

After much deliberation this committee finally decided that air horns and wiener-whistles are not instruments of "demons", bent on disrupting our cheering section, but rather seemed to add to the fun and hysteria at football games.

Gone are the days when a student could sit and watch a football game and yell hysterically for his school without fear of losfor his school without tear of los-ing points for his cheering section by opening his mouth or blowing his air horn at the wrong time. Ves, this thoughtful committee has made it mandatory that each nas made it mandatory mat each school elect five students to grade the opposing school's sportsmanhip at football games as dictated in the Sportsmanship Rating Form. It's a shame that this "thoughtful" committee doesn't feel that high school students can feet that high school students can control themselves at sports ac-tivities, and so has taken the liberty of dictating our ac-tions at the games. Nothing seems to be left out of Nothing seems to be left out of this Sportsmanship Rating Form. It is the cheering section's Bible; the guiding light for uninformed rooters. Here is a sample of the rooters. Here is a sample of the stamping of feet on bleachers during basketball game is harmful both to spectators and bleachers'. Well, if the simple stamping of feet on bleachers is harmful to spectators, maybe basketball should be played in a padded cell; or if the stamping of feet is bearmful to the bleachers. padded cell; or it the standing of feet is harmful to the bleachers then they surely aren't strong enough to support thousands of pounds of squirming fans and should be replaced.

So dust the cobwebs out of your horns and take your wiener whistles out of their hiding places: and take advantage of the liberal estrictions of the FAL.
